Christofle's Vertigo Flatware and Metropolis Porcelain

If silverware sounds like the stuff of which your grandmother's dining table was made, think again. Nothing inspires good table manners like sterling silver flatware, especially a contemporary design from Christofle.

May we present Vertigo flatware in Christofle Silver by designer Andree Putman, a must-use utensil line for the ubiquitous host or hostess. Determined to accomplish the proverbial design balance of form and function, Putman does just that with all her Vertigo line, which includes 12 individual pieces for each meal course and three serving pieces. The generous round shape perfectly garnishes not only your place settings, but also your guests' attention.

The table's not set, however, without dinnerware that is just as stunning as your silverware. Metropolis, a line of porcelain china also from Christofle, complements the silver with its bold black relief-like pattern.

Upon setting your table so elegantly, you'll be more than aptly prepared to proclaim, "Dinner is served!" Porcelain available exclusively at the Christofle Pavilion in San Francisco, 140 Grant Avenue. 414-399-1931. Flatware available at William Glen, 2651 El Paseo Lane, Sacramento. 916-485-3000.
